F. MARTINDALE INJURED SERIOUSLY.

CANNON'S NEW GARAGE AT DE-LAND COLLAPSES PINNING HIM AND J. T. CAIRNS UNDER THE DEBRIS.

The large garage recently built by C. Cannons at DeLand collapsed yesterday and is now but a pile of cement blocks and debris. B. F. Martindale, the builder, was seriously injured and may die. J. T. Cairns was severely crushed.

Mr. Martindale lived at Daytona Beach until recently. It seems that the structure was built by Martindale and Cairns were devising plans for strengthening the structure when it collapsed without a second's warning. Cairns was caught between two timbers and his leg was severely crushed. Martindale received a severe wound in the head, the left side of the scalp being so badly cut that when he was picked up it was hanging down over his face. He was unconscious for several hours and doctors are as yet unable to determine whether or not he will live.

MR. AND MRS. WHITE HOST AND HOSTESS AT BOAT PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. White, South Beach street, gave a pleasant boat party to the Tomoka Saturday, on the Floridian. Those enjoying the outing were, Mr. and Mrs. White, host and hostess, Major and Mrs. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Rolins White and children, Mrs. Asa Paine and two children, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blodgett, Mr. and Mrs. Chase and friend, Mrs. Alice Smith, who is visiting with them at the Bennett cottage on Ridgewood, and Mrs. Mah, of Columbus, Ohio, guest at The Despland. A generous luncheon was partaken of at the Tomoka cabin, and on the return trip cards and music made a pleasant variety in the program.

SAN FRANCISCO

CHARTER REVISION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 29—At a conference to be held tomorrow by representatives of the various civic associations it is expected that the first definite steps will be taken looking to the revision of the present municipal charter. The most important changes advocated by the civic associations are amendments to secure direct nominations, non-partisan municipal elections and majority rule, an amendment to prevent franchise grabbing, and amendments to simplify and make effective the present charter conditions in regard to the initiative, referendum and recall.

SENATOR ALLDS TENDERS RESIGNATION.

TOOK THIS ACTION A HALF HOUR
BEFORE SENATE MET TO ACT ON CHARGES.

ALBANY, March 29—State Senator J. P. Allds a half hour before the Senate met to vote sustaining or rejecting charges against him of soliciting and accepting bribes brought by Senator Ben Conger, filed his resignation with the Secretary of State.

This afternoon the Senate found Senator Allds guilty of accepting a bribe, by a vote of forty to one.

PARENTS OF WOLTER RETAIN WALLACE SCOTT FOR SON.

LAWYER ADVISES ACCUSED GER-MAN TO MAKE NO STATEMENT
THUS DASHING POLICE HOPES.

NEW YORK, March 29—Parents of Albert Wolter, the young German accused of murdering 15-year old Ruth Wheeler, today retained Wallace Scott as his attorney. The lawyer conferred with Wolter and advised him to make no statement, thus dashing the police hopes of a confession. The lawyer says Wolter is innocent.

The police say they have enough circumstantial evidence to secure a conviction of murder in the first degree.

SENATOR DANIEL IS HOLDING RECENT GAIN.

No change is reported today in Senator John W. Daniel's condition, but he continues to hold the important gain made in the past week.

HAD GLOWING ARTICLE ON DAYTONA IN ALTOONA PAPER.

C. P. Clark, of Altoona, Pa., who purchased what was originally the Cox property on West Orange avenue, had an article in one of the Altoona papers, "The Times," shortly after his return to that city, some three weeks ago, in which he spoke in the most glowing terms of Daytona. Mr. Clark's aunt, Mrs. E. Oakes, expects to remain here until some time in May.

ARE ENJOYING THE BEAUTIFUL WEATHER.

The guests of the various hotels are enjoying many forms of outdoor sports, lured by the invigorating temperature, and picnic parties and outing trips are mapped from day to day. Daytona is the central point of so many beautiful resorts within easy automobiling distance that much time may be delightfully spent in this way without exhausting the supply. Chief of all these attractions just at this time is our incomparable ocean beach and the splendid opportunity for surf bathing, an exhilarating form of enjoyment of which the tourists coming up from the south avail themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mellinger, of Reynoldsville, Pa., and Miss Robinson, of Kittanning, Pa., who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, on Ivy Lane, departed this morning on their return north.

In mentioning the Easter services at the several Daytona churches, inadvertently the Catholic and Christian churches were omitted, both of which had excellent Easter music, sermons and beautiful floral decorations, which were enjoyed by large congregations and contributed proportionately to the benefits and joys of the day.

ADD MILLIONS TO CAPITAL STOCK.

NEW YORK, March 29—At a special meeting today, preceding the regular annual meeting, the stockholders of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company sanctioned the proposal of the directors to increase the capital stock of the company from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000. The increase is to be used in the acquisition of new properties and extend the business of the company in new fields.

The corporation represents control of the Bell Telephone Companies all over the country, and it recently acquired the Western Union Telegraph Company, which, in turn has just taken over the American District Telegraph company. The company which is now to be capitalized at $500,000,000 originally had a capital of $850,000 when it began business in 1877.

The two-story brick building which Dr. T. D. Straughn is having erected on West Second avenue, midway, on the site of the frame building destroyed by fire during the past winter, is well progressed toward completion.

75,000 NEAR MT. AETNA HOMELESS.

AUTHORITIES HAVE ORDERED EVACUATION OF THE ENTIRE SOUTHERN SLOPE OF THE MOUNTAIN.

NAPLES, March 29—Owing to Mt. Aetna resuming activity authorities today ordered the evacuation of the entire southern slope of the mountain. (This means that 75,000 people are temporarily homeless.)

HOUSEBOAT AND CONVOY NORTHWARD BOUND.

Wm. Diston and party, who have been cruising down the coast aboard Mr. Diston's comfortable houseboat, "Bide-a-Wee," accompanied by the yacht "Cocopomelo," as a supply and baggage boat, were here from Sunday until today, when they left for St. Augustine, where they will remain a few days and then continue their journey to Philadelphia.

The "Bide-a-Wee" has her own motive power, being fitted with a 25 horsepower Sterling engine, while the "Cocopomelo" carries a 13-horse power Knox.

QUEBEC PILOTS CELEBRATE.

QUEBEC, March 29—Prominent shipping men of the St. Lawrence gathered in this city today to take part in a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the society of Quebec Pilots. The celebration, which opened this morning with the celebration of high mass in the Church of St. Roch, closes tonight with a big banquet at the Chateau Frontenac.

OKLAHOMA D. A. R.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 29—There was a gratifying attendance of delegates at the opening here today of the first Oklahoma State conference of the daughters of the American Revolution. The conference, which will remain in session three days, has as its special guest of honor Mrs. William Stanley, of Kansas, vice president general of the society, and Mrs. George C. Guernsey, State Regent of Kansas.

WILL CLOSE TERM WITH RECEPTION AND EXHIBITION

Mrs. J. C. Howard will close her dancing school with a grand reception and exhibition dance at the Palmetto Club house next Saturday evening. Mrs. Howard has been very busy this week drilling the pupils for the several special dances to be given at that time.

This will complete the second term this season of a very successful school which has created much interest and has been largely attended.

Mrs. Howard is a most proficient teacher of dancing and the exhibition to be given Saturday night will undoubtedly be one of the most brilliant and entertaining events of the season.

G. W. Fisher, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, was in the city from DeLand today.

*Beach street house and lot 100 x300 for sale, all modern improvements. Conrad-Oates Realty, Title & Insurance Company. tf

Mrs. James Allen, who has been visiting for a week or more with her son-in-law, T. S. Wood and daughters, left this morning on her return to Fernandina.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Clason, of Beaver Dam, Pa., arrived Monday afternoon from the south, and have taken a beach cottage for several weeks' stay. Mr. and Mrs. Clason are friends of Mr. and Mrs. Carson.

MAY ABOLISH VETO POWER OF LORDS.

PREMIER ASQUITH MOVES HOUSE
TO GO INTO SESSION AS COM-MITTEE OF THE WHOLE TO CONSIDER MATTER.

LONDON, March 29—In the house of Commons Premier Asquith moved that the house go into session as a committee of the whole to consider the result of abolishing the veto power of the House of Lords.

SHELL BOAT SOLD TO ATLANTIC CITY MERCHANT.

On Monday morning a deal was closed between Mrs. S. M. Ryan and J. C. Clark, of Atlantic City, N. J., by which Mrs. Ryan sold her Shell Boat, in which she had been conducting a millinery business, together with the stock of goods left over after the season's sales, to Mr. Clark. Mr. Clark, who is in the dry goods and millinery business in Atlantic City, has been spending the winter here with his wife, and has purchased residence property on Bay street.

D. A. R. WILL MEET WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6th.

The stars and stripes floating to the breeze from the residence of Mrs. Charles A. Young, Peninsula Drive, Daytona Beach, April 6th, will announce the regular monthly meeting. Responses, Alexander Hamilton.

REPLEVINS VAUGHN VISCERA

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 29—A hearing was had in court here today to determine who has the legal right to the viscera of Prof. J. T. Vaughn, who died some time ago with symptoms pointing to strychnine poisoning. The viscera, which has been in possession of Dr. Paul Schweitzer, of the State university, to whom it was turned over for examination, was replevined by attorneys for Mrs. Alma F. Vaughn and Dr. J. R. Hull, who are now awaiting trial on the charge of having murdered Professor Vaughn.

Miss Mae Wright, daughter of W. H. Wright, of Magnolia avenue, who has been spending the winter here, left this morning on her return to West Newton, Pa.

Miss Lilla Silverstein, who has been visiting with her brother, J. F. Silverstein, and wife, on South Palmetto avenue, left this morning on her return to Boyne City, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Holmes, of Norwich, N. Y., who have spent the season here, left this morning on the steamer Republic for St. Augustine on their way north. They will go to Chester, Pa., where Mr. Holmes is to take charge of the suburban gas plant. During the winter Mr. Holmes has been employed in the Gruber-Morris hardware store and Mrs. Holmes has been assisting R. H. Lesesne at the Kodak Place on North Beach street.

By L. C. DEMAREE.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.
Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick
and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon th beautiful surface. Take out your fiel glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest
of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens
of showy fruit and swaying palms;
see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamons forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions,
perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another, so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering,
"What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most
and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite,
—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Frut.
Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill
that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round You are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid
And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues, predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, prolificacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you.

The Fastest Autos and The Finest
Out.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbukto, and you will be "shown." Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade, and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse power, up to a 200-horse power, and all degrees of speed from acanter to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you do the roads and the beach are yours.
The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down in-
to your wallet only for coin for auto,
and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide-water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The mean average temperature, 80
degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth
as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straightaway record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin.
For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unfit for mortar, builders say, because its smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the wet, apparently soft beach,
these round particles settle down into a cement almost as hard as asphalt, beyond the comprehension of one who has not seen it. Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours
it is entirely rebuilt by the tides.
The beach has a width of 300 to 500
feet, and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobiling some part of each day.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.

Seabreeze contains a handsome opera house and a Congregational Church; at Daytona Beach is a M. E.
Church. An excellent high school is situated near the division line between the two towns. Both towns have enterprising business establishments, as is evidenced by the advertisements on the left and right.

All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated.
The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy. Flowering shrubs have been planted, which are covered with a wealth of bloom both summer and winter.

Work of rebuilding the Clarendon hotel is now in progress. This magnificent fire-proof structure, which is to contain 250 rooms, when completed will be the peer of any hotel in Florida. The site is immediately north of the clubhouse of the Florida
East Coast Automobile Association.
The Ocean Pier is a great attraction to fishermen and it is lined summer and winter with enthusiastic disciples of Izaak Walton, who find it nothing unusual to land fish weighing several hundred pounds.

PROGRESSIVE NEW SMYRNA

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man runneth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of by-gone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low.

A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile. Silent in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the roof being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO
Is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can put aside your conventional garb, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWKS PARK
A pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of newness, comfort and seclusion about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

ORMOND-ON-THE-HALIFAX

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach. Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with sub-tropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobile, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are mute invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moundgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moundgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road [passing Number Nine] and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

DELAND, THE ATHENS OF FLORIDA

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At Deland is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational Deland is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. Deland proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that Deland is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute.

From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

PICTURESQUE PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels.

A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grape-fruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised.

West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years.

A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

ORANGE CITY
The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

THE DAYTONA DAILY NEWS

Published every evening, except Sunday, from December 1 to April 1, by THE GAZETTE-NEWS CO. T. E. FITZGERALD, Editor-Manager. C. B. HARRIS, City Editor. Geo. F. CROUCH, Superintendent.

Entered as second-class matter December 1, 1909, at the post office at Daytona, Florida, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Number of Nails to a Horseshoe.

Centuries ago there lived a farrier, Walter le Brun by name, whose dexterity at the anvil on the occasion of a great tilting meeting on the banks of the Thames was noticed by the then reigning monarch, Edward III., who rewarded the blacksmith by granting him sufficient land adjoining the tilting green for the erection thereon of a forge. As quit rent he had to present annually to the king six horseshoes and sixty-one horseshoe nails. To the modern mind the number of nails would appear to be superfluous, but when it is remembered that the horseshoes of that period required ten nails apiece it will be seen that the calculations of Edward III. merely allowed one over in case of accident. Furthermore, the shoes were all to be for the horse's fore feet, from which fact some historians draw the inference that the animals ridden in the tilting tournaments were encouraged to injure each other with their front hoofs.—London News.

"Correct to a T."

Our earliest quotation for this or for the kindred phrases "to suit one to a T," "to fit to a T," "to know one to a T," is of 1693. Can any one help us to an earlier example? No one of our many instances throws any light upon its origin. A current obvious conjecture would explain "a T" as meaning "a T square," but to this there are various objections. We have no evidence as yet that the name "T square" goes back to the seventeenth century and no example of its being called simply "a T," and in few if any of our instances would the substitution of "a T square" for "a T" make any tolerable sense. The notion seems rather to be that of minute exactness, as it were "to the minutest point." But the evidence is mainly negative. If examples can be found of "T square" before 1700 or of its reduction simply to "T" or of earlier examples of "to a T" they may help to settle the actual origin.—London Notes and Queries.

The First Wire Nail.

Although the wire nail is a small thing, it would be a big thing to do without. Probably no one could estimate the millions or billions or trillions—whatever the number may be—that are used in a single year. Yet the first wire nails in the United States were made no longer ago than 1872. The first machine for their manufacture was brought over from Dusseldorf and set up in Covington, Ky. Later this single machine was multiplied by four and a company was organized. In 1884 the manufacture of wire nails was begun in Beaver Falls, Pa., and the product was already beginning to grow in popularity and usefulness. Just a year later a strike temporarily shut off the manufacture of cut nails, and the wire nail was in such demand that the manufacturers were swamped. From that time dates the supremacy of the wire nail.—Chicago Post.

The Masculine Wig.

Civilization has to thank the French revolution and the subsequent wars for masculine emancipation from the wig. It was partly the scarcity of flour and the war tax on hair powder that banished the powdered wig, but partly also the leveling influence of Jacobinism. "I do not know the present generation by sight," wrote Walpole in 1791, complaining that the young men "in their dirty shirts and shaggy hair have leveled nobility as much as the nobility in France have."

Unfair.

Hazel, aged seven, while feeding the cat at the dinner table was reproved by her father, who told her that the cat must wait until later, whereupon the small girl wept and said: "I think it is a shame just because she is a poor dumb animal to treat her like a hired girl."—Harper's Magazine.

But Did She?

"My head aches awfully," she sighed. "If you weren't here I'd take my hair off and rest it."

"What?" he cried.

"I mean down," she corrected.—New York Press.

Authoritative.

"Yes, she's the author of 'Familiar Talks With Young Mothers.'"

"What's her name?"

"Emm: Jane Dibby."

"Married, of course?"

"Oh, no! Entirely unprejudiced."

LOVE SPEECHES VERSUS DEEDS.

"Do you love your wife? If you do, then do not fail to tell her so. Let no day go by without some word of affection."

Thus do the advisory writers admonish the married man.

Which is very well, but—

Here is a Minneapolis woman who has sued her husband for divorce because he spends his time making love to her instead of working to support her!

In her complaint this woman says her husband kisses her until she is sick of his attentions. He calls her all manner of pet names, but does nothing to help her.

Doubtless she thinks with the old saying that "fine words butter no parsnips."

For this husband not only fails to butter the parsnips, but compels her to hustle alone to get the parsnips.

The wife is right.

Protestations of love with nothing to back them up are like the crackling of thorns under the pot—poise without significance.

Love is of account only in action. Love is proved by deeds, it must do as well as say. Words may satisfy a heart hunger for awhile, but in the meantime the stomach may grow hungry, and as between heart and stomach the former can stand the longer siege of poverty.

Even the novelist, who is expert in love conversation, is under compulsion to get a move on his lover that he may verify the soft talk.

The husband who really loves his wife will strive with all his might to save her from hardships and to give her all the comforts and as many of the luxuries of life as he may be able to secure.

Love is another word for sacrifice. Love means self denial.

The husband who loves his wife will be not only affectionate, but helpful. Love is unselfish. It does not take, but gives.

There are plenty of husbands who are short on words. In speech they are naturally undemonstrative. They are not given to expression. But they are genuinely in love with their wives.

In fact, most men are built that way. Romantic love discourses are well enough in their way, but unless backed up by actual effort and real unselfishness they are "as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."

A man may be as reticent of love speeches as Miles Standish, but constant in devotion to the day of his death.

The Books We Read.

What we read has an actual effect on us. Books are also like people in that. The people among whom you spend most of your time will make you more or less like them, and the books you read will make your mind something like themselves. If we get into the habit of reading silly or careless or cheap literature we gradually lose the power to read what is strong and true and fine. It is occasionally necessary to take a good deal of trouble to read a fine book, just as it requires care and time to do a fine piece of work. But it is worth the trouble. What is called a taste for good literature is one of the most delightful possessions in life. We must begin to get this taste while we are still young or we run a risk of never getting it at all, in which case we lose forever out of our lives all the beautiful and wise and noble books which the world has been making for us these many hundred years. It would be like going about in a few ugly rags when the closet upstairs is full of charming clothes ready to put on and ours only for the trouble of unlocking the closet door.—St. Nicholas.

The First Fireless Cooker.

Soon after the battle of White Plains, N. Y., while the American forces were drifting toward North Castle, the lone occupant of a house, one of the Pierce families, on the Bedford road at Pleasantville, N. Y., looking out of the window, descried a posse of Hessian soldiery coming up the pike. Having just placed a number of loaves of bread in the old Dutch oven, she betthought herself that it would be well to secrete them until the soldier band passed. She at once removed the loaves, which had already become heated, and ran up in the attic and placed them between two feather beds. The soldiers arrived in due time and soon appropriated everything removable. After their departure the housewife remembered the bread exodus, ran up the stairs, and lo, the bread was done to the "queen's taste!"—Magazine of American History.

He Didn't Go Up Head.

"If the whale swallowed Jonah, why didn't the lions devour Daniel?" asked the teacher.

The red headed boy spoke up: "Mebbe Daniel was in the circus business an' the lions knowed him."—Atlanta Constitution.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

HIS BEST FRIEND.

"I am going to lose all the friends I ever had, but Pittsburg will be clean when I get through."

These words, uttered by District Attorney William A. Blakely, ought to be appropriately framed and hung in the office of every public prosecutor in the land.

"I shall do my duty if my best friend deserts me." That's the stuff of which strong men are made.

It hurts to lose one's friends. It hurts to the core to find out that your friends do not measure up to their high calling of loyalty.

And it takes a brave soul to go on alone.

But what if the cowards of the community are wrong and you are right? Are such deserters worthy of your friendship? Is it not worth while to have found them out?

But there are compensations. Blakely of Pittsburg will find, as Folk of Missouri found, that when the high and mighty desert you the great public will take you up.

That, after all, you are but exchanging a coterie of pusillanimous people, pseudo friends, and gaining for yourself a far wider circle of real and worthy friends.

Indeed, one should count himself fortunate when he loses a friend who would keep him from doing his duty and gains a host of friends who will applaud his well doing.

And it is a cheering sign of the times that strong young men can now win a reputation by doing right.

But, above all, it should be remembered by every well intentioned man that—

ONE'S BEST FRIEND IS HIMSELF.

You must live with yourself and do business with yourself AS LONG AS YOU ARE YOU.

You cannot get away from yourself, not in an eternity!

You can fool your friends or the public or your family a part of the time, but you cannot fool yourself all of the time, not if you try a thousand years.

And if you can win your own respect by listening to the monitor of conscience, why, it doesn't matter, because there is one friend who will always stand by you—yourself.

If Blakely does his duty and cleans Pittsburg he will have with him his very best friend—himself.

HE BOUGHT IN PARIS.

Then He Found He Could Have Done Better Nearer Home.

Enrico Caruso, the famous tenor, told a curious story once while in conversation with a man prominent in musical circles in Philadelphia. The two were ascending the stairs from the basement of the Bellevue-Stratford when at the first landing they halted, and Caruso pointed to a marble bench of ancient Florentine pattern.

"I am a great admirer of those benches," he said, "and last summer I had a strange experience with them. I had just purchased a villa in Italy and was always on the lookout for something decorative in the way of novel furniture."

"While in Paris I happened to see one of these benches and at once concluded to put a dozen of them about the grounds. I found the dealer and asked the price. He said $50 apiece. I ordered the dozen."

"A few weeks later I was at my villa looking it over and happened to discover across the hedge at the border a marble yard, and there was the marble cutter working on one of those same benches."

"I climbed the hedge, and after chatting with the man a few minutes and admiring the great care he was exercising I asked if he usually made such benches. 'Oh, yes,' he replied. 'I make many. I have an order now for twelve of them for the great tenor Caruso. He ordered them in Paris.'"

"When I recovered from my surprise I questioned him and found that he was really the man who supplied the Paris dealer. I asked him how much he would make me some for, and he replied, 'Twenty dollars apiece, signor.' 'So I was paying $50 for the privilege of buying in Paris what was being made at my own door, in addition to freight both ways and extra incidental expenses. Now when I want to buy anything for my home I go to the nearest place first.'—Philadelphia News.

To attempt to make everything emphatic is to make nothing emphatic.—Whately.

A Salutary Lesson.

"Now, remember your salutes," said the English corporal when posting the Irish recruit on sentry. "If you see a lieutenant—he wears one star on his shoulder—slope arms; if a captain—two stars—slope arms; if you see a major—a crown—present arms; if the colonel—stars and crown—present and turn out the guard."

Pat pondered his orders carefully, but presently he was awakened from his reverie by the approach of the general.

That worthy son of Mars surveyed the cross swords on the gallant officer's shoulders and as he was not included in the corporal's category simply nodded cheerfully.

"Well, my man," said the genial general, "and who are you supposed to be?"

"I'm supposed to be a bit of a sentry," said Patrick. "And who are you?"

"Oh, I'm supposed to be a bit of a general," said the latter.

"A general, is it?" cried the startled Pat. "Then ye'll want something big. The corp'ral told me about the others, but nothing about yourself at all. At all. But hold hard a minute, and I'll give ye the bayonet exercise, if that'll do."

A Resourceful Woman.

"I think it is a foolish fashion that so many women indulge, that of telling their age wrongly," said the woman with the prematurely gray hair. "I can honestly say that I never practice it myself."

"No?" said her friend, with many meanings in the monosyllable.

"Well," said the first speaker, with a smile—she was a woman with a sense of humor—"the fact is I don't have to I have a way of making myself out younger than I am if I wish to without telling a fib at all."

"Really?" inquired the other curiously. "In what way?"

"I put the burden of the fib all upon the questioner. You see, when one of my dear women friends—it is always women who are curious on this point—asks me how old I am I say: 'Oh, I'm a year or two older than you, you know, my dear—at least a year older. Let me see, now, how old are you?' And then she always knocks more off my age than I should ever have the nerve to do myself."

A Bee That Digs.

Dr. John B. Smith gives the name of "digger bee" to a blue green bee having a metallic sheen, which may be seen flitting about sandy places during the first heats of May. With the aid of liquid plaster of paris poured into the holes that it makes in the ground he has followed the bee through a wonderful course of digging. The work is done by females, and its primary object is to provide protected cells in which the young are bred. The bee makes a tunnel a quarter of an inch in diameter, which after starting for a few inches on a slope runs straight down into the ground. At the depth of a foot or more short lateral tunnels are driven, and at the ends of these are formed the breeding cells. Having provided for her young, the bee "continues to dig down and yet farther down until she is four feet or even more beneath the surface, dying from sheer exhaustion about the time her first progeny begin to make their way to the surface."—London Mail.

Daniel and the Lions.

An old negro preacher in Kentucky was dilating upon events in the Bible which had a zoological trend. He described the deluge and how all the animals, two by two, went into the ark and were saved. Then he discussed the incident of Jonah and the whale. Balaam's ass and finally the exploit of Daniel, who entered the den of ravening lions and emerged unharmed. His auditors listened with interest, and some of them seemed to have their doubts as to the authenticity of the tales.

Finally one of the younger negroes rose up and inquired, "Say, pahson, wuz dem lions jest like the kind we has now?"

"Cose not, cose not," retorted the preacher, irritated at having his discourse interrupted. "Dey was B. C., meaning befo' circuses."

The explanation was sufficient and satisfactory.—Buffalo Commercial.

Happy Thought.

Mrs. Newed—How does the breakfast suit you, darling? Newed—It's just right, sweetheart. It may be rather plebeian, but just the same I'm awfully fond of calf's liver. Mrs. Newed—So am I, dearest. Don't you think it would pay us to keep a calf? Then we could have calf's liver every morning for breakfast.—Chicago News.

EASY MONEY.

Picked Up by the Sharp Chap Who Bet on a Word.

Just by way of showing how easy it is for some men to pick up a few dollars by their wits a young fellow strolled into a cafe the other afternoon and, joining in conversation that was being carried on by convivial spirits, declared he was the most "fortunate" individual on earth. He immediately began telling a story of his personal troubles, but before he had got the narrative well under way there was a chorus of interruptions, and the talkative young man was politely informed that his English needed revising, since he should have used the word "unfortunate" instead of "fortunate."

The newcomer insisted that unfortunate was the correct word to use, and the argument waxed warm. Finally, with a show of heat, the young man who started the trouble declared that while he had only a few dollars he would wager them that he was correct.

So anxious were his friends to lay wagers with him that he did not have money enough to meet all the demands, but he succeeded in putting up $15 in separate small bets. The men who were certain that the garrulous young man was wrong in the use of the word unfortunate sent out for a dictionary only to find that they had been "stung" on a "sure thing" bet, the big book on spelling showing that unfortunate is perfectly proper and means unfortunate.

"Yes," said the winner of the bets as he pocketed his new portion of wealth, "I have won money on that before. I collected $10 this afternoon on a similar wager."—Philadelphia Record.

NEWS OF THE HOTELS

M. Liebel, Jr., the mayor of Erie, Pa., joined his wife at the Ivy Lane Inn last week.

A party of ten or twelve from The Despland had a delightful moon light automobile drive on the beach last night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shepard, of St. Joseph, Mich., season guests at The Despland, leave today on their return north.

Joseph Algoet, who has been acting as porter for The Stillman the latter part of the season, left Monday for Jacksonville, from which city he will later go to Philadelphia or New York.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bell and two children, of Hillsboro, Ohio, who spent the season at Bretton Inn, Ormond, at the close of the hotel came to Daytona, and are guests at the Ivy Lane Inn.

Mrs. C. C. Mellor entertained the guests at the Ivy Lane Inn Sunday evening by giving several vocal selections. Mrs. Mellor has a highly cultivated voice, and her singing is always highly appreciated.

W. A. Primmore, prominent real estate agent of Chicago, last week joined his family at the Ivy Lane Inn. Mr. Primmore came down to close a large land deal, and take his family back home with him.

Arrivals at The Ridgewood: Mr. and Mrs. M. J. M. McPherson, Howell, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Beemin, Mrs. Wm. Disston, Miss Dunlop, Mrs. M. D. Ring, Miss A. S. Ring, Philadelphia; B. P. Lyman, New York; Geo. C. Fisher, Boston.

Recent arrivals at The Hamilton: E. J. Wardswell, L. E. Wardswell, Leesburg; Mrs. R. C. Martin, Omaha; Miss Caroline Thompson, Nashville, Tenn.; Geo. Pattison, Eau Gallie; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Macauley, Miss Macauley, Detroit; J. D. Donnelly, Albion, N. Y.

Arrivals at The Despland: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kenney, Chicago; John S. Pierney and family, Miss Amy C. Edwards, Lawrence, L. I.; H. D. Baker, Miss Charlotte Baker, Frederick, Md.; R. L. Newell, Trenton, N. J.; H. Meinecke, New York; Mrs. Hein, Doris Leonard, East Orange, N. J.; David H. Houston, Jacksonville.

Seventeen Year Locusts.

The seventeen year locusts are sometimes called Pharaoh's locusts because they make a sound that resembles the repeating over and over of that historic name. The notes or songs are not what might be termed vocal, as they are produced by the rapid vibrations of two very thin films that cover a small cavity at the base of the abdomen. In some localities the sound produced is somewhat different from that heard in other sections. Along streams, especially along the Ohio river, the notes are more bass, while on the highlands and especially in the mountain regions the sounds produced are more shrill.—Omaha World-Herald.

An Advantage.

A well known Scottish clergyman got into conversation in a railway carriage with a workman, who informed him that he had been a coupler on a railway for several years. "Oh," said the minister, "I can beat that! I have been a coupler for over twenty years." "Aye," replied the workman, "but I can uncouple, and you canna!"

A Mortal Insult.

Mrs. Dimpleton—I want you to get another doctor right off. Dimpleton—What's the matter with this one? Mrs. Dimpleton—What do you suppose he said about baby? He told me I must treat him like a human being!

SUPPRESSED.

A Story That Won a Prize and Yet Was Never Published.

A number of years ago a series of prizes for the best detective story was offered by a certain well known western newspaper, and the late F. R. Burton, in collaboration with a fellow craftsman, entered the competition. Their story, the theme of which involved an ingenious method of robbing a safe in spite of the protection afforded by a time lock, was one of the five which won prizes, and the authors' portraits were duly published in the issue of the paper which announced the result of the competition. The prize money, constituting a considerable sum, was promptly paid over, but to the author's surprise, although the other four winning stories were published, that of the time lock failed to appear. After a few weeks a representative of the paper called upon Mr. Burton, explaining that the editor was anxious to know what authority he had for his story and whether it would really be possible to rob a bank after the fashion that he had set forth. With the help of a pencil and a few diagrams Mr. Burton easily proved the accuracy of the method to the apparent satisfaction of his interviewer and thereafter looked forward to a prompt appearance of the story. But a few days later the secret of the delay was revealed. A special envoy of the paper waited upon him, full of consternation and apology, and prepared to make any amends within reason, but was emphatic in announcing that it was absolutely impossible to publish the story, because after expert investigation they had become convinced that if it should appear in print it would destroy the protective power of every time lock safe in the country, and the representative of the newspaper did not take his leave until he had obtained what Mr. Burton under the circumstances easily granted—a signed agreement releasing the paper from its obligation to publish the story and solemnly pledging himself not to attempt to publish it elsewhere. Accordingly the curiosity piqued by this bit of inside history is likely never to be gratified.—Bookman.

KNOCKED FOR RAIN.

And Within an Hour the Wind Veered and the Shower Came.

Frances Gostling, author of "The Britons at Home," has this curious tale of the dolmen of Roccaud, with its curious cup shaped impressions like the constellation Pleiades: An old woman, a bystander, was asked what the marks were for. "Folks say," said she, "that they were made by the elbows and knees of St. Rock. He fell down on this stone when he landed from Ireland." And then the old woman added: "We use the holes now when we want the wind to change. We knock in them." The story continues: "Do ask her to knock!" I cried eagerly. There was a moment of hesitation on the part of the old woman, a half franc shown in a careless way, and "What wind would midam like to have?" "Southwest," said I, looking at the cloudless sky.

"The old woman took up a flint and went slowly to the dolmen. Without any pause for reflection she knocked three times in a particular depression, murmuring some words I should not have understood even had they been audible. 'Come,' observed my friend; 'we have yet time to see the rest of the peninsula.'"

"The old woman said something, at which M. le Rouzic laughed. 'She says that if we are going farther it will be best to be quick,' said he. 'Why?' 'The rain you asked for will be here shortly.' And in less than an hour it was raining."

Counterfeit Coin of Great Value.

The unusual occurrence of a counterfeit coin bringing far more than the value it was originally intended to represent by its makers took place recently when a spurious Spanish doubloon of Charles V. of Spain, dated 1801, was sold for $60 at a sale of old coins at the Collectors' club in Philadelphia. The coin was of excellent workmanship, and there was really no striking difference between it and the genuine, but instead of being struck in gold it was composed of platinum of the purest quality, which had been gilded. The intrinsic value of the Spanish doubloon in gold is about $15.61. The platinum counterfeit weighs 420 grains, which at the prevailing market rate of 95 cents a pennyweight for platinum would give this piece an intrinsic value of $17.60.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Id fingers and a mere thread of melody in a woman's voice; then the rain continued its monotonous beat, and he heard the music no more.

Ebenezer Pollock was angry. He resolved to lay the intruding ghost if possible, and so the next day when a watery sun rendered the house a little less dreary he lighted a lantern and unsealed the door that led into the other side of the house.

The house was quite as dusty and forlorn as on the day he had bought it. Strangely enough, Ebenezer did not look at the little piano which stood open just as Cornelia Elmsbury had left it so many years ago, with a yellowed sheet of music upon the rack. He scurried through the rooms with a half realization that some slender spirit was flitting through the rooms away from his contaminating presence.

A few weeks afterward there came another storm of wind and rain, and again he heard the ghostly music. Ebenezer had a twinge of the rheumatism that night, and he very irritably rapped on the wall with his cane. The music stopped abruptly, and he did not hear it again, although there were many storms that fall.

One winter evening, when the old house was wrapped in a blinding snow-storm, Ebenezer awoke from his first sleep with every muscle aching and drawing with pain. Rheumatism held him a captive. For hours he groaned dimly, conscious that the fire in his air tight stove was nearly out at a time when he needed heat. There was no ministering hand to apply hot flannels to his swollen joints and muscles or to allay his torture with soothing liniments.

It was then that the ghost came again—this time with groping fingers upon the sealed door. It knocked gently and spoke to him in faint, frightened whispers.

"Go away," shouted Ebenezer wrathfully. "Go away, ma'am! It ain't proper that you should be loitering around here! Go away, I say!"

There was a silence, and presently Ebenezer's thick, grizzled hair stood almost upright on his head. Ghostly footsteps sounded in the rooms over his head and softly, tap, tap, tap, down the narrow staircase that opened into his bedroom.

The lamp beside his bed gave forth a cheering light, and Ebenezer Pollock, thoroughly frightened for the first time in his life, watched with fascinated eyes the slowly opening door at the foot of his couch.

Tall and slender and pale, she stood before him at last, her tender blue eyes filled with pitying tears. Perhaps she was forty years old, but the hair framing her delicate face made her appear much younger.

"I could not bear to hear you moaning with pain all alone. My husband used to have rheumatism before he died, and I know just what to do," she said in a low tone.

"Ma'am?" gasped Ebenezer. "Ma'am?" He watched her slender figure as it fitted to and fro about his rooms. She mended the fire, and soon its cheering warmth brought relief to his aching limbs. She heated water and flannel cloths and applied soothing liniments with very human fingers.

When the lines of suffering had relaxed and Ebenezer's face still sought hers questioningly she sat down in a low chair and spoke somewhat sadly.

"I'm Mrs. Stone—Cornelia Elmsbury that was. I've been living here four years."

"Here—in this house? How?" demanded Ebenezer doubtfully.

"In the big back attic," said Cornelia, with a little smile. "It looks out on the tall chestnut woods, you know, and the short chimney comes out there. Grandfather left the cellar full of coal and wood. I've got it real comfortable up there, and on stormy nights I'd come down in the dark and play on my piano till you drove me away. I used to walk over to Belton on dark evenings and get all my groceries and things. It was hard work, but it was heaven to me to get home again after all I went through!" She broke into sobs.

"What made you hide? What did you do it for?" asked Ebenezer excitedly.

"My husband was poor. He died and left a little insurance money—just enough to buy my food and not enough to pay rent. My eyesight is so poor I cannot work, and so I thought I would come back here. I heard the place was shut up, and it was my own by rights. I knew I'd be driven out if any one knew I was here!"

"You poor little thing!" blurted Ebenezer pityingly. "Stay here just as long as you like!" There was a long silence after that, while the little widow cried happily before the fire. Ebenezer was thinking rapidly. "If you ever go away, ma'am," he said, with a great blush, "I'll go after you and bring you back here and"—He paused.

It happened that one day the ghost deserted the Elmsbury house, and Ebenezer kept his word and went after her—and brought her back a bride to her old home.

His Little Joke.

An enterprising Philadelphia restaurant proprietor hung out a large black-board sign one day with the following announcement: "You Can't Beat Our 15 Cent Dinners."

This sign proved to be a good drawing card until a young man of humorous turn of mind came along. The latter, seeing the sign, stopped and after scrutinizing it closely smiled at one of those smiles which bode no one any good. He waited until none of the employees was watching, and, taking out his handkerchief, he erased the letter "b" from the word "beat."

The transformation was complete, and it was not until a crowd had collected that the proprietor of the restaurant discovered why there was larger crowd outside than inside.

The Elmsbury Ghost

It Appeared In Person to Mr. Ebenezer Pollock

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

"Going once! Going twice! Going three times and sold to Mr. Ebenezer Pollock for $1,900!"

The auctioneer's hammer fell with a resounding thud and nearly grazed the nose of the purchaser.

"Didn't mean to damage a good customer," chuckled the man of the hammer as he pulled down the red flag above the gate and climbed into his buggy. "Come down to Lawyer Fitch's office bimeby, 'Nezer, and we'll close the deal right and proper."

"Very well," said Ebenezer gruffly.

He watched the crowd of women tip-toeing out of the house and waited until the last one had passed through the gate, each with a furtive glance at the new owner. He was aware that they marveled because he had bought a ghost-ridden house.

When he was alone in the shadows of the tall oaks he looked up at the house, dark and forbidding in the midst of rank grass and weeds. Whatever had been its original color, it was now faded to a dingy mustard hue, blotted with the dark green of heavy wooden shutters tightly closed.

There were years and years when the shutters had never been closed. Those were the days before old Simon Elmsbury's granddaughter had run away with the schoolteacher and had in consequence been disinherited by the old man. Simon had left the house and land and furniture to the Foreign Missionary society, and now, five years after his death, they had put it up at auction, and Ebenezer had bought it at much below its real value.

It was well known that Simon would have opposed his granddaughter's marriage to any man. He was selfish enough to wish to keep her at his side to wait upon him, for she was the only relative he had.

"Let us come and live with you, grandfather," Cornelia had pleaded with her arms around his neck. "You will like Henry better when you know him." But the obdurate old man had angrily flung her aside, and the next day the girl had been married to Henry Stone and disappeared from Melville.

After that Simon Elmsbury closed the main part of the house and lived in the east wing for ten years, and then he died without one relenting word to Cornelia. The Stones had never been heard from since their departure from Melville. No one knew where they lived or even if they were alive. Old Simon Elmsbury went to the grave unattended by any relative.

Since Simon's death gossip had it that the house was haunted. On stormy nights, the credulous said, the old piano tinkled softly behind the closed shutters, and a woman's thin, sweet voice was heard singing in low tones. Snatches of this weird music could be heard sometimes in the lull of shrieking wind or dashing rain. On other nights all was still. Some claimed that Cornelia was dead and that her sweet spirit came back to sing in the rooms of the old home, where she had spent a happy girlhood.

In spite of ghostly rumors, Ebenezer Pollock had suddenly made up his mind to give up boarding in the village hotel and occupy a home of his own. The Elmsbury place suited him. It was near his harness shop, and the east wing was just large enough to serve his simple purposes. As for the main portion of the house, he gave it over to rats and mice and mold.

Now he walked up the path and entered the front door, creaking rustily on its hinges in the south breeze that swept the yard. On the second floor a door banged loudly. Ebenezer started and then, with an exclamation of disgust, entered the house.

A long, dark hall stretched away into inky blackness, and to the right and left open doors gave glimpses into darkened rooms faintly illuminated with candles placed there by the auctioneer.

Ebenezer creaked in and out of the rooms filled with decaying furniture, carefully blowing out the candles. Upstairs the candles were flickering strangely, and there was a chill in the large north bedroom as if from an open window, but all the windows were tightly shuttered and barred.

Once outside again, he turned the great brass key in the front door with an involuntary sigh of relief. The east wing had a separate entrance and was shut off from the rest of the house by a sealed door. A day's work by black Anna would make the wing very habitable for him and his bachelor belongings. Ebenezer didn't want a housekeeper—he detested women.

He had lived in the Elmsbury place for three weeks before he heard the singing ghost. It was the 21st of September, and the equinoctial gale was shaking the old house to its very foundations. Ebenezer had gone to bed, but he could not sleep. The wind screamed down the wide chimney and whistled around the windows. The roar of beating rain drowned all sound save the whistling wind. There were creaking sounds beyond the walls, and Ebenezer fell to thinking of the ghost.

It was then that the wind paused for breath and the rain fell more lightly. From a distance came the echoing jangle of an old piano touched by tim-
